

REPORT OF SECOND DEATH OF VILLA REPORTS OF HIS ACTIVITIES

[Republican A. P. Leased Wire]
EL PASO, Tex., April 29.—A new factor is believed to have been injected into the conference over American troop dispositions tonight by the receipt of fresh reports that Francisco Villa is dead.

Mexican Consul Garcia said Colonel Carlos Carranza had telegraphed him from Cuernavaca that he had been unable to find Villa's body but that he had established beyond dispute that the bandit leader was dead and he hoped to recover the body in a few days. The telegram said all the evidence tended to confirm the death of Villa.

This telegram is understood to have been laid before the conferees but none would confirm or deny it.

Another Reported Raid
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 29.—Major O. Myers, Fourteenth cavalry in command of American troops at Marfa, notified army headquarters late today that he had sent a strong detachment from Terlingua to Lajitas, Texas, to investigate the reported crossing at that point of a band of Villistas. La Jitas is on the Rio Grande, fifteen miles from Terlingua.

According to Major Myers' report all was quiet along the border in that vicinity as late as 7 o'clock Friday night when the latest report was received.

The truth of the reports that Villa bandits had occupied twenty miles of American territory in the La Jitas district without opposition was denied today by Ranger Captain Fox at Marfa. Army headquarters places confidence in Captain Fox's statement.

Strengthening American Forces
COLUMBUS, N. M., April 29.—While Villa is either resting in the mountain fastnesses of the Continental Divide or fleeing far into the interior of Durango, according to carrying reports General J. J. Pershing is building a thoroughly prepared and ample fighting force. This was reported tonight by observers of conditions in Mexico following the receipt of numerous unofficial reports from across the border.

Only routine news was received at military headquarters from the field headquarters and these indicated that, while the American command is rapidly being brought to the highest point of efficiency, it is marking time, awaiting developments in the El Paso conference.

The two companies of infantry which left here today crossed the border late this afternoon on their way to assist in preparing the desert trails of Chihuahua for the approaching tropical rainy season.

Movement Against Zapata
MEXICO CITY, April 29.—General Pablo Gonzales in command of 15,000 men, has reached Tres Marias, on the summit of the divide separating the federal district from Cuernavaca. He has established temporary headquarters at this place, where he will remain only a few days, continuing his advance on Cuernavaca, which is expected here to fall into the hands of the constitutionalists within a week.

With General Gonzales are cooperating Generals Francisco Cosío Robelo and Manuel Gonzales, who have established temporary headquarters at Huixtla, some miles nearer Cuernavaca.

As soon as its capture is effected, the constitutionalist troops marching from the state of Puebla are expected to reach Cuernavaca the second city in the state of Morelos, the two armies later forming a junction in an effort to crush Zapata and his movement.

give an account of what had happened since the rebels had proclaimed an Irish republic last Monday afternoon, said:

"The outbreak began Monday morning about 11:30 o'clock. About that time information was received that Dublin Castle had been attacked. St. Stephens Green occupied and the postoffice seized by the rebels. Telephonic communication with the Curragh camp was immediately obtained by the authorities and the reserve troops there were brought to Dublin that night and the following morning.

"Meanwhile the situation at the Castle, which never had been captured by the rebels, was strengthened. The only casualty there was the shooting of a policeman at the gate. The very few hours after the outbreak, large forces had been assembled at the Castle which, however, never was in real danger.

"The rebels had cut telegraphic communications with the country districts and with England, but had not succeeded in discovering a telephone wire which connected the Curragh camp with headquarters. This was one of their great mistakes. They did not cut communication with north Ireland, with which we have at all times been able to converse.

At one time the rebels had possession of the Broadstone railway station, which was not protected.

"On Tuesday morning all the reinforcements we had called from Curragh had reached Dublin, and since that moment the rebels have not attempted anything except sniping from certain localities and houses. It is so easy for them to abandon houses

SHE'S FIGHTER FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN

New picture of Dr. Mary Walker.

No, it isn't a typographical error—this is she—it's Dr. Mary Walker, whose quaint figure in a Prince Albert or a cutaway coat and in men's trousers has for many years been one of the sights of Washington. She expects to be stared at and makes her way serenely through congressional corridors or about the streets. She is a suffragist, of course, and is perfectly at home after she has laid her silk tulle on a congressman's desk and has begun to argue the cause.

By back doors and to get away to other advantageous positions.

"The military cannot distinguish these from other citizens. Sometimes they leave their houses after hiding their rifles and cartridges and mingle with the ordinary inhabitants. After taking observations of the soldiers' positions, they return to begin sniping again. As a matter of fact, the general run of the people do not sympathize with them.

"In the early stages of the revolt the Sinn Feiners fired on the members of the fire brigade, but later we cleared the area around the fires and the firemen were able to extinguish the flames.

"On Wednesday the military arrangements were completed by the arrival of further reinforcements and the rebels were hemmed in in Sackville street.

"A big cordon has been drawn all around Dublin and shorter cordons around the inner districts.

"Regarding the situation in the provinces, on the whole it looks very good. We were naturally apprehen-

You can just as well have a Sensible Cigarette

And why not? There are several genuinely sensible cigarettes being sold today. Fatimas are not the only one. And you would sooner smoke a sensible cigarette than the other kind—every man would.

So here's the way to pick out one of the sensible ones:

1st. It must suit your taste.

2nd. It must be comfortable to your tongue and throat—no burn or bite.

3rd. It must leave you feeling tip-top—free from any heady or heavy feeling after you have smoked as many as you want to.

Now, one of these sensible cigarettes is Fatima.

And Fatimas please so many men that they out-sell any other cigarette costing over 5c.

The thing for you to do is to see if they please you too. If they do, be sensible—stick to Fatimas. They'll be good to you. Start in today.

sive lest there might be some response there to the Dublin movements. Fighting occurred in Galway and Athenry, where the police are now in possession of the town, but the rebels are encamped in a ruined castle.

The masked concerning the origin and connections of the rebel movement with the Germans, the viceroy said there was an absolute certainty that the rebellion was timed to take place with the knowledge of Germany and was intended to bring about the withdrawal of troops from England to Ireland.

"As to the landing of Sir Roger Casement," said Baron Wimbourne, "that was all arranged in Germany with the connivance of the Sinn Feiners. On the night of his arrest a motor car upset into a river and the occupants who were drowned both wore Sinn Fein badges.

"The Germans do not seem to have supplied the rebels with arms, which are of all kinds, even including fowling pieces. A proclamation issued by the rebels announcing the foundation of the Irish republic, was signed by seven persons, including J. T. Clark, Connolly, Pearce and MacDermott."

Augustine Birrell, the chief secretary for Ireland, who was present during the interview with the viceroy, supplemented his remarks by saying the situation would be dealt with according to martial law, which now is in full operation in Ireland, and deprives the citizens of the right of a civil trial. Mr. Birrell was not unwilling to give information as to occurrences, but he said he was satisfied that the situation was well in hand, and the suppression of the movement was a matter of a short time.

The visit of the Associated Press correspondent to the vice-regal lodge followed a long drive in an open motor car through the disturbed sections of the city, and past barricades where soldiers knelt or lay down in replying to the rebel fire. Occasional bullets whistled overhead and the rattle of a machine gun was heard.

Only a few ventured onto the porches and they feared to go to the stores to make purchases.

This fear was fully justified, as the correspondent saw two small boys shot while waiting at a bakery for bread during the morning. In other parts of the city also many civilian casualties were caused, but the number either of the soldiers or the civilians killed or wounded is not obtainable.

Bank Saved By Students
LIVERPOOL, April 30.—How Trinity College students saved the Bank of Ireland is told by a resident of Liverpool who has just arrived from Dublin.

"It was the intention of the Sinn Feiners," he said, "to take this institution and its valuable contents, and a body of rebels came along with the express purpose of putting this intention into execution. Opposite the bank stands famous Trinity College, where an officers' training corps of students is stationed, and the young officers had a warm reception in readiness.

The rebels came along in great style, anticipating no trouble and shooting down the half dozen soldiers always on guard at the bank. But as they advanced there was a rifle volley and some of the attacking party dropped to the ground.

"The college had been transformed into a veritable fortress. In the windows were sandbags, loopholes, behind which the officers were waiting to give battle. The insurgents were stupefied and for a moment hesitated as to what they should do. Then several sprang forward, shouting to their comrades, and the rebels passed on.

"Again came a volley from the windows of Trinity. More men fell, and the rebels broke in disorder and fled."

A TIMELY WARNING

The following letter was contributed to The Times, of India, published in Bombay:

"My purpose for writing on you this is to inform you many English Brothers not to give honor and devotion to your ladies because they will in the beam proud and then they will want you. 2 or 3 thing happen at Victory Garden tomorrow and then I all of sudden made up my mind to write you immediately. There was many English women and when men are sitting on the bench, and women come, man stand and give their sit to woman. This happen 2 or 3 time tomorrow and I question you why? I again tell you why? Men and women are similar in this world and then why men honors woman. If they honors old old woman, one thing, but they honors young young lady. My purpose to write this to inform the English Sahab loka that when they do this they spoil their feminine lady and then this lady get proud and walk like p-e-ck and then ask vote and then spoil Ken Garden
